

So Thankful for the Poetry Workshop!

In bringing her poetry workshop to Wichita, Kan., Charlotte Ostermann gifted participants beyond measure. Not only did she impart incredible wisdom and knowledge regarding the craft of poetry, but she was an awesome guide for those walking the path of becoming a truly expressive human being.

As founder of Storytellers of the Great Plains -- a regional networking group for writers of all genres that sponsored the workshop -- I am grateful to have such an excellent resource in Charlotte to call upon to grow our individual and collective gifts.

Any individual or group that engages Charlotte will receive a gift that keeps on giving on the journey of becoming a Christian writer: one who learns how to uncover the good, the true and the beautiful and to recognize God's grace operating in and through all of life's experiences.
